

CAMPUS JUDICIAL BOARD for the 2017-2018 school year

TITLE

Campus Judicial Board Member

- A volunteer position; students serve a one-year term, fall through spring.

POSITION DESCRIPTION

The main focus of the CJB is to promote academic integrity and social responsibility at UC Davis. This is accomplished through outreach activities that include: educating students and faculty about the Code of Academic Conduct; designing and distributing informational materials; and talking to students, faculty, and advisory groups about the prevention of academic dishonesty and the promotion of social responsibility.

The Campus Judicial Board (CJB) is also responsible for deciding contested cases of alleged student misconduct through formal hearings. CJB students serve on formal hearing panels along with University faculty or staff. Members also serve as advisors to either the student or the referring party involved in a formal hearing.

CJB members volunteer a minimum of four hours a week. This includes a one-hour weekly meeting and three hours of “project time,” during which CJB members provide, among others, the following services:

- They plan and conduct outreach projects to raise awareness and support for UC Davis’ Code of Academic Conduct.
- They table and serve as resources for other students, providing general information about UC Davis’s disciplinary process and answering questions.
- They post information and articles to the CJB FaceBook page.
- They sit in on conduct meetings.
- They help students or faculty members prepare for formal hearings, or participate in formal hearings as panel member, advisor or recording monitor.

Twelve students serve on the Campus Judicial Board each year. Service on CJB is not only interesting and rewarding but also invaluable to the University.

Outreach activities and formal hearing responsibilities count towards the 3 hours of “project time” that are required of CJB members each week. Please answer the following questions on a separate sheet of paper:

1. The Campus Judicial Board's weekly meetings are held on Tuesday evenings from 5:00-6:00 pm. Are you able to commit to regular attendance at these weekly meetings? In addition, CJB members are expected to put in three additional hours a week of CJB "project time" between the hours of 9:00 am and 4:00 pm. Are you willing and able to commit to this?
2. Although the most visible aspect of being on the Campus Judicial Board is serving on formal hearing panels, this is actually an infrequent occurrence as we normally have only about 8-12 hearings a year. The other major function of the Campus Judicial Board is to plan and implement projects designed to educate the campus community about the importance of honesty, integrity, and social responsibility. Do you have any ideas for things the Board could do that would be fun and engaging for students while also educating them about these values and UC Davis's Code of Academic Conduct?

3. Hypothetical Scenario:

You and a friend are taking an Economics class together. The grade in the class is based solely on two midterms and one final exam, and the grading is on a curve. Prior to the first midterm, the professor handed out a "Study Guide," and a number of the more difficult questions on the study guide showed up on the midterm exam. Prior to the second midterm, the professor handed out another Study Guide. You and your friend sit next to each other during the second midterm, as you always do during this class. A few minutes into the exam, you notice your friend slip his phone out of his pocket and into his lap. As you continue to work on your exam, you find your attention distracted by the fact that your friend is clearly looking at his phone in a very sneaky way.

What do you think about this situation?

What actions, if any, would you take at the time?

What actions, if any, would you take after the exam?

Rank Order of Offenses

On a scale of 1 to 10 with #1 being the worst offense, please rank the following incidents as to which are the most and least serious violations of the Code of Academic Conduct (this means that you will only have one #1, one #2, one #3, etc.)

_____ (A) Alexandra is having a really hard time with her Organic Chemistry class. If she fails the class, she is sure that she will lose the chance to go to medical school, and it has been her life-long dream to be a doctor. Alexandra asks her friend Marisa to take the test in her place because Marisa took the class a previous quarter and got an "A." Marisa agrees and takes the exam posing as Alexandra.

_____ (B) Tyler, a junior transfer student, wrote a paper for his History class during Fall Quarter that just happens to be on the same topic that his University Writing Program (UWP) instructor wants students to write about Winter Quarter. Tyler is thrilled that he won't have to do the work for the UWP paper because he already has it done. He retypes the cover page and turns in his old paper for the UWP class.

_____ (C) After getting a Physics quiz back and finding that he got a D+ on it, Jarreau alters his graded quiz and submits it for re-grading. He attaches a note stating why he feels he didn't receive enough points on some of the problems when it was initially graded.

_____ (D) Arush, a sophomore, has a 10-page research paper due the next day in his Bio class. He hurriedly searches the web for information and writes the paper, borrowing a lot of language from his Internet sources and just substituting a few words here and there. He uses in-text citations to indicate his sources, but makes sure to "accidentally" mix up the page numbers so the instructor won't notice how close his paper is to the on-line articles.

_____ (E) Juniors Sandy and Emily are taking an NPB exam. When Sandy finishes her exam, she turns to Emily and asks her how much longer she'll be, and if she wants to get lunch after the exam. Another student sees them talking and believes they are cheating on the exam.

_____ (F) Freshman student Miguel finishes his German mid-term 15 minutes early. Although he feels pretty confident about his answers, he sneaks some peeks at the test of the guy sitting in front of him "just to confirm" his answers. However, he doesn't change any of his responses.

_____ (G) An instructor puts three books on reserve in the library for students to use to complete a class assignment. Although reserve books can only be checked out for a few hours, Jordan decides to keep the books and just pay the late fine, rather than returning them. She uses the books to complete the assignment and then returns them to the library after the assignment's due date.

_____ (H) Ana, a senior, panics during a final exam in Abnormal Psych. Her good friend Loretta is sitting next to her during the final so she looks at her exam a few times and copies her friend's answers to several questions.

_____ (I) Kyle realizes on the day that it is due that he has forgotten to do a homework assignment for his Statistics class. He hurriedly completes the assignment, knowing that it is full of mistakes. As he is turning in his work, he notices that the assignment on top belongs to the best student in the class. He takes that student's assignment from the box, erases her name, puts his own name down, and turns it back in.

_____ (J) Juniors Randeep, Anisha, and Sumi live together in West Village and are taking a computer programming class together. The instructor states in the syllabus and has told the students that they may work in groups of two only, so Randeep is officially paired with Ryanna. However, all four students work out the computer program together and turn in code that is virtually identical.
